Darin Brush Named New President of Davis Technical College

Utah System of Technical Colleges Board of Trustees Replaces Retiring President Michael J. Bouwhuis

KAYSVILLE, UT – Following a nationwide search, the Board of Trustees that oversees Utah’s technical college system today named Darin Brush as the new President of Davis Technical College, effective November 16, 2018.

“Our system has been well-served by the significant work of President Michael J. Bouwhuis and his team at Davis Technical College, as well as the recent work of Interim President Kim Ziebarth,” Board of Trustees Chair Jim Evans said. “The Board believes that Mr. Brush’s extensive experience, background in technical education and his commitment will make great contributions to the continued growth of Davis Technical College.”

“I am deeply honored to have been selected by the Board of Trustees to lead Davis Technical College, said Mr. Brush, “for 40 years, Davis Tech has fulfilled its promise of ‘changing lives’ through technical education delivered by some of the best faculty and staff anywhere. Working alongside these great employees, our blue-ribbon board of directors, and the countless supportive community partners we enjoy, we are certain to continue our legacy of affordably preparing students for careers in demand. My wife Natalie, our three children, and I couldn’t be more excited, and are already invested in the success of our Davis and Morgan County communities.”

Mr. Brush has most recently served as Vice President of External Engagement and Economic Development at Davis Technical College, during which time he has overseen employer partnerships, career placement services, and small business development efforts at the college. Previously Mr. Brush was Executive Director at the Utah State Office of Rehabilitation, CEO at Community Development Corporation of Utah, and Deputy Director at the Utah Department of Workforce Services. He is also active in the community, holding board member positions with the Utah Advanced Materials and Manufacturing Initiative and the Davis and Morgan Counties Economic Development Partnerships.

Mr. Brush holds two bachelor’s degrees from the University of Utah in Political Science and History, and a master’s degree in History from the University of Utah.
